Executive Summary

This internship report presents a detailed overview of the Human Resource Management (HRM) practices observed during my internship at JL Sweaters Limited, a prominent manufacturer in the knitwear industry. The internship, conducted over a period of [insert duration], provided hands-on experience in various HR functions and insight into the company's people management strategies.
JL Sweaters Limited has a structured HR department responsible for recruitment and selection, employee onboarding, training and development, performance evaluation, payroll management, and compliance with labor laws. During the internship, I had the opportunity to assist in several key areas, including maintaining employee records, supporting training sessions, and observing the recruitment and selection process.The company emphasizes employee welfare, skill development, and a safe working environment. Notable strengths include a collaborative work culture, clear communication channels, and active involvement in employee engagement programs. However, there are opportunities to improve in areas such as digital HR systems, more structured performance appraisal processes, and advanced training modules.This report outlines the tasks performed, skills gained, challenges encountered, and recommendations for further enhancement of HR operations at JL Sweaters Limited. Overall, the internship has been a valuable learning experience, enriching my understanding of practical HRM in a manufacturing setting.

Chapter: One

Introduction

1.1 Introduction

JL Sweaters Limited is a prominent and well-established sweater manufacturing company in Bangladesh, widely recognized for its dedication to quality, ethical standards, and timely delivery in the global apparel market. The company has built a strong reputation by consistently meeting the demands of international buyers and maintaining compliance with global labor, safety, and environmental standards. Equipped with modern machinery and a skilled workforce, JL Sweaters Limited operates efficiently across all departments, from sampling and production to quality control and shipment.The company specializes in producing a wide range of knitwear products, particularly sweaters, for various renowned global brands. Its commitment to sustainability and responsible business practices has also contributed to its strong standing in the competitive garment sector of Bangladesh.As part of my academic requirements, I had the opportunity to complete my internship at JL Sweaters Limited. Throughout the internship period, I was able to gain valuable practical experience in different departments of the factory, observe the production processes closely, and understand how theoretical knowledge is applied in a real-world industrial setting. This report is a reflection of my learning and observations during the internship and aims to provide insights into the company's operations, structure, and work culture.

1.2 Objectives of the Study

Every research work is conducted to achieve some objectives. The primary objective of this report is to fulfill the requirement of the report. The secondary objective of the report is to evaluate the "Human Resource Management Procedure" of JL Sweaters Limited. This report has been prepared primarily for the fulfillment of the Human Resource Management course, which is an essential part of the BBA program of Sonargaon University (SU).

The objective of this report is:

- To share the lesson learns.
- To inform about the progress.
- To analyze the inputs against the outputs.
- To communicate the changes.
- Risk reduction preparation.
- To plan accordingly for up-coming period.
- To know about the JL Sweaters Limited and its HR practice.
- To find out the kinds of training provided by JL Sweaters Limited to its employees.
- To look on the frequency of training provided by JL Sweaters Limited to its employees.

And finally, whether the training provided by the organization has any impact developing the employee.

1.3 Methodology of the Study

This report is prepared based on the internship experience at JL Sweaters Limited, focusing on understanding its operational structure, departmental functions, and overall contribution to the readymade garment (RMG) sector of Bangladesh. The methodology outlines how relevant data and insights were collected, analyzed, and interpreted throughout the internship period.The details of the

Data Source

The information and data for this report have been collected from Primary Source as well as Secondary Sources but emphasis has been given more on Secondary Sources.

Primary Source

Primary Sources mean the sources of data which were never used in anywhere and which data are presented first time. This information is collected from.

- Practical desk work
- Face to face conversation with the officer
- Direct observation
- Face to face conversation with the client

Secondary Source

Secondary Sources mean the sources of data which were already existed and used. Many journals, books and data from websites are used here as a source of secondary data. This report will be based on theoretical and practical information gathered from Secondary Sources e.g.

- Books, manuals,
- Journals,
- Publications,
- Web sites,
- Back-office management on the related field.

Apart from these I will try to induce my practical experience what I have gathered while working as a report and my leanings what I have learnt from my university.

Data Analysis, Classification, & Presentation

Relevant data for this report has been collected through practical orientation, personal interview, and observation in the organization etc. The interviews were administered by formal and informal discussion. No structured questionnaire has been used. Secondary sources of information include the annual report of the company. Data collected from secondary source have been, processed manually and qualitative approach has been used throughout the study. Qualitative approach has been adopted for data analysis and interpretation taking the processed data as the best. So, the report primarily on an analytical judgment and critical reasoning. After gathering all the prime and secondary data I collected, corrected, organized, analyzed, and integrated to draw some findings

1.4 Limitations of the Study

A primary limitation of the report is that it is based on facts, accumulated from word of mouth, while consulting secondary data. Some information presented in the report may be biased, as people tend to avoid their own limitation regarding their job and tend to hold other departments responsible for drawbacks of their own. As the report is not a comprehensive one, rather based on a single facility of JL Sweaters Limited and also based on a limited number of department employees so any ultimate decision may not be drawn about the whole organizations training facility. There is no study work which is free from defect. Such defects are known as limitations. As the report prepared with a short span of time, the report could not be made comprehensive and conclusive. Some usual constraints I did face during my investigation. Due to the company's policy of maintaining secrecy I did not get the opportunity to collect information regarding all departments

The limitation of my study work is stated by the following:

- The data and information related with the topic was not easily available.
- The study also suffered from inadequacy of data.
- The study was not done very successfully due to inexperience.
- Supply of more practical and contemporary data is another shortcoming.
- Unwillingness to response of the interviewer is another limitation for this study work.
- Lacking young, energetic, and talented officers /staffs.
- Scarcity of pertinent information.
- Time Constraint.
- Lack of experience.
- Lack of knowledge about the functional aspect of capital market activities.
- Shortage of update data.

1.4.1 Confidentiality of Data

Because of some divisional and confidential problem, I could not get enough information. Every organization has their own secrecy that is not revealed to others. While collecting data some company personnel did not disclose enough information for the sake of confidentiality of the organization.

1.4.2 Budgeted Time Limitation

It was one of the main constraints that hindered to cover all aspects of the study.

1.4.3 Data Insufficiency

There is a lack of information about the different costing methods applied by different companies and the level of costing applications as well. Insufficient books published relevant to the topic and lack of availability of fact and figure has made an impact. These constrains narrowed the scope of accurate analysis. If these limitations had not there; the report would have been more useful attractive.

Chapter: Three

Theoretical Discussion

3.1 Concept of HRM

Human resource management (HRM or Simply HR) is the management of an organization's workforce, or human resources. It is responsible for the attraction, selection, training, and assessment and rewarding of employees, while also overseeing organizational leadership and culture, and ensuring compliance with employment and labor laws. In circumstances where employees desire and are legally authorized to hold a collective bargaining agreement, HR will typically also serve as the company's primary liaison with the employee's representative.HR is a product of the human relations movement of the early 20th century, when researchers began documenting ways of creating business value through the strategic management of the workforce. as payroll and benefits administration, but due to globalization, company consolidation, technological advancement, and further research, HR now focuses on strategic initiatives like mergers and acquisitions, talent management, succession planning, industrial and labor relations, and diversity and inclusion.Human Resource Management (HRM) is the function within an organization that focuses on recruitment of, management of, and providing direction for the people who work in the organization. HRM can also be performed by line managers. HRM is the organizational function that deals with issues related to people such as compensation, hiring, performance management, organization development, safety, wellness, benefits, employee motivation, communication, administration, and training.

Management-Hellriegel/Slocum: The policies and practices involved in carrying out the 'people' or human resources aspects of a management position, including recruiting, screening, training, and appraising."

Human resource management-Gray Dessler: The administrative discipline of hiring and developing employees so that they become more valuable to the organization.

Human Resource Management Includes

(1) Conducting job analyses,
(2) Planning personnel needs, and recruitment,
(3) Selecting the right people for the job,
(4) Orienting and training,
(5) Determining and managing wages and salaries,
(6) Providing benefits and incentives,
(7) Appraising performance,
(8) Resolving disputes,
(9) Communicating with all employees at all levels.

3.2 Objectives of HRM

Whilst the precise HR objectives will vary from business to business and industry to industry, the following are commonly seen as important HR objectives:

Objective	HR Actions
Ensure human resources are employed cost-effectively	Pay rates should be competitive but not excessive Achieve acceptable staff utilization Minimize staff turnover Measure returns on investment in training
Make effective use of work force potential	Ensure jobs have suitable, achievable workloads Avoid too many under-utilized or over-stretched staff Make best use of employee's Skills
Match the workforce to the business needs	Workforce planning to ensure business has the right number of staff in the right locations with the right skills Effective recruitment to match workforce needs Training programs to cover skills gaps or respond to changes in technology, processes & market Consider outsourcing activities that can be done better and more cost effectively by external suppliers Get the right number and mix of staff at each location where the business operates in multiple sites and countries.
Maintain good employer/ employee relations	Avoid unnecessary and costly industrial disputes Timely and honest communication with employees and their representatives Sensitive handling or potential problems with employees (e.g., dismissal, redundancy, major changes in the business) Comply with all relevant employment legislation

3.3 Selection of HRM

Selection is the process of picking or choosing the right candidate, who is most suitable for a vacant job position in an organization. In other words, selection can also be explained as the process of interviewing the candidates and evaluating their qualities, which are required for a specific job and then choosing the suitable candidate for the position.The selection of a right applicant for a vacant position will be an asset to the organization, which will be helping the organization in reaching its objectives.Different authors define Selection in different ways. Here is a list of some of the definitions:Employee selection is a process of putting a right applicant on a right job.Selection of an employee is a process of choosing the applicants, who have the qualifications to fill the vacant job in an organization.Selection is a process of identifying and hiring the applicants for filling the vacancies in an organization.Employee selection is a process of matching organization's requirements with the skills and the qualifications of individuals. A good selection process will ensure that the organization gets the right set of employees with the right attitude.

3.3.1 Importance of Selection

Selection is an important process because hiring good resources can help increase the overall performance of the organization. In contrast, if there is bad hire with a bad selection process, then the work will be affected, and the cost incurred for replacing that bad resource will be high. The purpose of selection is to choose the most suitable candidate, who can meet the requirements of the jobs in an organization, who will be a successful applicant. For meeting the goals of the organization, it is important to evaluate various attributes of each candidate such as their qualifications, skills, experiences, overall attitude, etc. In this process, the most suitable candidate is picked after the elimination of the candidates, who are not suitable for the vacant job.

3.3.2 Advantages of Selection

A good selection process offers the following advantages:

- It is cost-effective and reduces a lot of time and effort.
- It helps avoid any biasing while recruiting the right candidate.
- It helps eliminate the candidates who are lacking in knowledge, ability, and proficiency.
- It provides a guideline to evaluate the candidates further through strict verification and reference-checking.
- It helps in comparing the different candidates in terms of their capabilities, knowledge, skills, experience, work attitude etc.

A good selection process helps in selecting the best candidate for the requirement of a vacant position in an organization.

3.3.3 Selection Process and Steps

As we have discussed that selection is very important for any organization for minimizing the losses and maximizing the profits. Hence the selection procedure should be perfect.

A good selection process should comprise the following steps:

Employment Interview − Employment interview is a process in which one-on-one session conducted with the applicant to know a candidate better. It helps the interviewer to discover the inner qualities of the applicant and helps in taking a right decision.

Checking References − Reference checking is a process of verifying the applicant's qualifications and experiences with the references provided by him. These reference checks help the interviewer understand the conduct, the attitude, and the behavior of the candidate as an individual and also as a professional.

Medical Examination − Medical examination is a process, in which the physical and the mental fitness of the applicants are checked to ensure that the candidates are capable of performing a job or not. This examination helps the organization in choosing the right candidates who are physically and mentally fit.

Final Selection − The final selection is the final process which proves that the applicant has qualified in all the rounds of the selection process and will be issued an appointment letter.

A selection process with the above steps will help any organization in choosing and selecting the right candidates for the right job.

3.4 Recruitment of HRM

Recruitment refers to the process of identifying, attracting, interviewing, selecting, hiring, and onboarding employees. In other words, it involves everything from the identification of a staffing need to filling it. Depending on the size of an organization; recruitment is the responsibility of a range of workers. Larger organizations may have entire teams of recruiters, while others only a single recruiter. In small outfits, the hiring manager may be responsible for recruiting. In addition, many organizations outsource recruiting to outside firms. Companies almost always recruit candidates for new positions via advertisements, job boards, social media sites, and others. Many companies utilize recruiting software to more effectively and efficiently source top candidates. Regardless, recruitment typically works in conjunction with, or as a part of Human Resources.

3.4.1 Recruitment Involve

While the recruitment process is unique to each organization, there are 15 essential steps of the hiring process. They have listed them here, but for a detailed exploration of these steps, check out the page on Hiring Process Steps:

- Identify the hiring need
- Devise a recruitment plan
- Write a job description
- Advertise the position
- Recruit the position
- Review applications
- Phone Interview/Initial Screening
- Interviews
- Applicant Assessment
- Background Check
- Decision
- Reference Check
- Job offers
- Hiring
- On boarding

3.4.2 Types of Recruiting

There are several types of recruiting. Here's an overview:

Internal Recruiting: Internal recruiting involves filling vacancies with existing employees from within an organization.

Retained Recruiting: When organization hires a recruiting firm, there are several ways to do so; retained recruiting is a common one. When an organization retains a recruiting firm to fill a vacancy, they pay an upfront fee to fill the position. The firm is responsible for finding candidates until the position is filled. The organization also agrees to work exclusively with the firm. Companies cannot,

Contingency Recruiting: Like retained recruiting, contingency recruiting requires an outside firm. Unlike retained recruiting, there is no upfront fee with contingency. Instead, the recruitment company receives payment only when the clients they represent are hired by an organization.

Staffing Recruiting: Staffing recruiters work for staffing agencies. Staffing recruiting matches qualified applicants with qualified job openings. Moreover, staffing agencies typically focus on short-term or temporary employment positions.

Outplacement Recruiting: Outplacement is typically an employer-sponsored benefit which helps former employees transition into new jobs. Outplacement recruiting is designed to provide displaced employees with the resources to find new positions or careers.

Reverse Recruiting: Refers to the process whereby an employee is encouraged to seek employment with a different organization that offers a better fit for their skill set. They offer Reverse Recruiting Days to help workers with this process. At the Reverse Recruiting Days, they review resumes, conduct mock interviews, and offer deep dives into specific job roles. Click here for more information.Tips for effective recruiting.Recruitment are a nuanced process that requires extensive research, thorough procedures, and finesse in order to produce high-quality hires with regularity.

Look internally before externally: There's a good chance the best candidate for your position is already working for your organization. Internal candidates are already familiar with and contributing to your corporate culture and goals. Given their past success within your organization, it is reasonable to expect they will continue to excel in a new position.

Reach out to "passive" candidates: there is a good chance your ideal candidate is not actively looking for a new job and will not respond to your job board ad. Why? Because they're likely already employed elsewhere. After all, why wouldn't your competitors also want to employ your ideal candidate? Therefore, effective recruiting requires you to look outside of your applicant pool for top talent. Encouraging your staff to attend industry conferences and participate in professional organizations; developing relationships with local university business schools; searching social media sites (i.e. LinkedIn) for strong resumes from candidates who might not be actively looking for a new job; and encouraging your employees to refer people they know or are connected to are all important mechanisms through which to expand your recruitment network.

3.5 Training and Development of HRM

Training and Development is a structured program with different methods designed by professionals in particular job. It has become most common and continuous task in any organization for updating skills and knowledge of employees in accordance with changing environment. Optimization of cost with available resources has become pressing need for every organization which will be possible only by way of improving efficiency and productivity of employees, possible only by way of providing proper employee training and development conditioned to that it should be provided by professionals.

As compared to technical staff, managerial staff will be very low in number because manager who is having more efficiency can manage a greater number of people which is a real manager capability but coming to technical jobs cannot be done by one or with minimum available skilled labour if there is need for high or large production. ultimately development of employees is by way of learning by way of observations to develop knowledge. In fact, training is also provided for management level personnel to understand technicalities involved and nature of work done by the staff working under them, ultimately to manage them.

3.5.1 Traditional Approach

Most of the organizations before never used to believe in training. They were holding the traditional view to be changing that managers are born and not made. There were also some views that training is a very costly affair and not worth. Organizations used to believe more in executive pinching. But now the scenario seems.

3.5.2 Modern Approach

Modern approach of training and development is that Indian Organizations have realized the importance of corporate training. Training is now considered as more of retention tool than a cost. The training system in Indian Industry has been changed to create a smarter workforce and yield the best results. The HR Training and Development Manager is responsible for the organization's staff training requirements, programs, and career development needs. They supervise training staff, plan and administer training seminars, and manage conflict resolution, team building, and employee skill evaluations. The HR Training and Development Specialist plans, produces and administers staff and management training programs. They conduct programs to develop employee skills in accordance with organization practices and policies. Additionally, they research and evaluate training resources, as well as suggest new topics and methods The Chief Learning Officer (CLO) is a relatively new executive level position. The CLO is in charge of employee training, education, and learning .

translate learning into a strategic business asset. “The way to activate the seeds of your creation is by making choices about the results you want to create. When you make a choice, you activate vast human energies and resources, which otherwise go untapped." - Robert Fritz.

3.5.3 Training and Development Objectives

The principal objective of training and development division is to make sure the availability of a skilled and willing workforce to an organization. In addition to that, there are four other objectives: Individual, Organizational, Functional, and Societal.

Individual Objectives: Help employees in achieving their personal goals, which in turn, enhances the individual contribution to an organization.

Organizational Objectives: Assist the organization with its primary objective by bringing individual effectiveness.

Functional Objectives: Maintain at the departments of the contribution at a level suitable to the organization’s needs.

Societal Objectives: Ensure that an organization is ethically and socially responsible to the needs and challenges of the society.

3.6 Strategic Importance of HRM

In today’s businesses, the right approach and management of the company’s employees can greatly affect the company’s overall performance. A strategic approach in Human Resource Management is vital especially in growing companies. Starting from right staffing to maintaining performing employees, HR management is key in developing not only the employees, but the whole organization itself.Human Resources encompass a broad scope in management. An expanding company dependent on its current success can maintain and further develop its business starting with the right staffing. As demands for the product or services increase, additional manpower is needed to comply with them. The current manpower should be checked but not simply if they can comply with the demands, but it has to ensure that it can still keep its quality and standards. Mass production or bulk orders should not be an excuse in decreasing quality, hence, increased customer dissatisfaction and decreased sales. For a company that is already recognized in the industry and is eyeing on expansion, their status and reliability should be maintained.The leaders of the company can now focus on the products itself and expansion and let the HR Department handle the development of the organization. Keeping an eye on the company’s long-term goals, mission and vision, the development of performance standards is essential to identify potential problems, non-performing employees and compliance to tasks and standards. Minor employee and performance problems should be seen immediately to avoid any future inconvenience and potential problems to the customers and thus become a liability to the standards. Minor employee and performance problems should be seen immediately to avoid any future inconvenience and potential problems to the customers and thus become a liability to the company. HRM professionals can also identify the processes and the proper staffing for each of these activities, and in effect, the systems and approach in terms of the company's front-line operations can be improved to decrease manpower hours, improve quality, streamline processes, and elevate standards. The success and growth of a small company can be attributed to its culture.Due to its size of, communication between all employees is not complicated. And alongside this communication, the trust and organizational goals are easily shared and understood by everyone. And in its growth, it is important that this culture is maintained and adjust to changes accordingly. HR professionals can work both with management and employees in doing this. With increase in employees and more demands in operations, communication may take a backseat for both parties. However, Human Resources Management can amend this and become a bridge in establishing what the management wants from employees and vice-versa. In its continuous development, it is but imperative that the management or its owner be prepared for more arduous tasks in operations and leading the rest of the team towards continued success. Management should be equipped with the right skills in planning, leading, organizing and establishing standards. As they are the ones who will eventually be focused in developing the company instead of the operations and technical aspects, a higher understanding of this responsibility is essential, and this also plays a significant part once competition is put into the picture. Companies fail because numberreasons, and mismanagement can be one of them.

3.7 Roles & Functions of HRM

The Human Resource Department deals with management of people within the organization. There are a number of responsibilities that come with this title. First of all, the Department is responsible for hiring members of staff; this will involve attracting employees, keeping them in their positions and ensuring that they perform to expectation. Besides, the Human Resource Department also clarifies and sets day to day goals for the organization. It is responsible for organization of people in the entire company and plans for future ventures and objectives involving people in the Company. (Handy, 1999).Research has shown that the human aspect of resources within an organization contributes approximately eighty percent of the organizations value. This implies that if people are not managed properly, the organization faces a serious chance of falling apart. The Human Resource Departments main objective is to bring out the best in their employees and thus contribute to the success of the company. These roles come with certain positive and negative aspects. However, the negative aspects can be minimized by improvements to their roles and functions. These issues shall be examined in detail in the subsequent sections of the essay with reference to case examples of businesses in current operation.

3.7.1 Positive Aspects of Roles and Functions of the HR

Recruitment of Employees

This is one of the most fundamental roles of the HR department. This is because this function ensures that the company under consideration selects the most skillful and competent person from a sea of applicants at that time. This function involves evaluation of ability and competency of potential employees in relation to what the Company needs. This role falls under the staffing role of management. If this function is performed well, then the organization will increase value consequently being on the right pathway to achieve its organizational and departmental goals and objectives. (Hyde, 2004 Effective recruitment can be done through a number of ways. First, the company can conduct educational and psychological measurements. This task will involve assessment of abilities, skills, and character evaluation of applicants. Through psychometric evaluation, the company can ensure that employees have the right attitude necessary to fit into the organization. Another method companies use to recruit members of staff is through interviews. Here, the Human Resource Department can ask applicants questions that evaluate their decision-making abilities and how they would deal with certain situations if presented with them. The department can also employ the use of written interviews where applicants answer questions addressing key issues in the organization. Through these channels, the department contributes towards organizational performance.

Improvement of Compensation Packages

One of the major functions of the HR department is to motivate employees. This can be done through rewards especially for those who have done well. The HR department needs to evaluate performance of employees and those who have exceeded expectations should be compensated for their actions. Research has shown that rewarding employees for good performance is the number one incentive for keeping up this trend. These compensation packages can come in the following ways.

- Holiday Offers
- End of Year Bonuses
- Equities
- Awards
- Salary Increments
- Provision of Flexible Working Hours
- Straight forward Promotion Schemes and Career Developments

If the HR department includes these incentives, then it will ensure that employees are satisfied with the company. It will also contribute towards good staff retention rates. This is especially crucial in increasing stability within the organization. It also makes employees identify with the firm and instills a sense of loyalty. (Handy, 1999).

Planning in the Organization

The Human Resource Department is placed with the responsibility of ensuring that it plans adequately for all the organizations future engagements that will involve people. One important aspect of this is planning for employees in the organization. It is important that the organization ensures that all the employees under its wing are just enough to increase value to the organization. The Department must ensure that staff members are not too many because if they exceed this amount, then the organization stands to lose. It must plan adequately to ensure that staff members are not too few either, otherwise they will be overworking those who are already in place. Consequently, there will be poor motivation resulting from fatigue.The HR department is also bestowed with the responsibility of planning future organizational goal in relation to people or clarifying these same goals to staff members. This function of the department ensures that people in the organization have a general direction which they are working towards. Organizations that have a clear direction are always more effective; those members of staff will be more result oriented rather than just working for the sake of it. The department is also responsible for setting day to day objectives necessary for streamlining activities within the organization and thus ensuring that work is not just done haphazardly. (Hyde, 2004).Negative Aspects of Functions and Roles of HR,There are several problems that arise as the department goes about its activities:

Problems in Recruitment

The department may sometimes be unable to adequately coordinate and incorporate all the employees needed in the company's operations. One such example is the NHS. In the year 2004, the organization was found to be wanting in its human resource department's functions. The company was recruiting a large proportion of its employees; 40% from Asian and African countries. This means that the organization was draining medical personnel from those needy countries and using them for themselves. (Katherine, 2002), Such a practice showed that the HR department had exercised bad judgment in its staffing function. Instead, it could have used these foreign nurses as temporary measure and put in place a strategy to train local nurses such that it could stop depending on those poor countries for supply of nurses.

Problems in Remuneration

In the process of trying to motivate members of staff to perform better, the Human Resource may make deals that eventually cause problems. A case in point is the Home Depot. This company has an employee compensation policy that requires that one should be rewarded for the time they have served the company.The Home Depot Company offers an end of year bonus, basic salary, and grant on stock shares as an incentive for some of its employees. The CEO of the company lost his job in the year 2007. This was because the company has experienced a lot of losses under his leadership; its shares fell by eight percent in the stock exchange, and he deserved to leave the companyHowever, because the Human Resource Department had put in place a policy that requires all members of staff to be given the incentive mentioned above, he left with a lot of money. It was reported that he had with him about two hundred and ten million dollars. The company had no way out of this payment because HR had already passed that policy and they were bound by the law. This goes to show that sometimes policies made by the HR department do not benefit the company especially if the parties involved are considered as losses to the company. (Michael, 2007).

Problems in Planning

Sometimes the HR department can employ people who may not contribute towards organizational principles. A classic example is the Arthur Andersen company that fell apart in the year 2002. This was an American company that dealt with audits. It was initially very successful in its operations prior to that fateful year. But in the latter years of its operations, the company was involved in two accounting scandals that tarnished its name and subsequently caused failure. The company failed to plan well for the kind of employees it recruited. This was witnessed when one of its employees in the legal department called Nancy Temple was fined in the court of law for non- adherence to accounting laws. This problem could have been prevented if the HR department had evaluated this employee before hiring her and evaluation should have been done during her performance. If HR had been extremely critical, then they would have realized that the employee did not adhere to company principles and would therefore have terminated her employment. Beside this, the Arthur Andersen Human Resource department also failed in its communication function to employees. The department should have ensured that they constantly communicate to members of staff about the goals and objectives of the company on a day-to-day basis. This would have made them very clear in the minds of employees and would have prevented the downfall of the company.

3.8 New Trends in HRM

Human resource management is a process of bringing people and organizations together so that the goals of each other are met. The role of HR manager is shifting from that of a protector and screener to the role of a planner and change agent. Personnel directors are the new corporate heroes. The name of the game today in business is personnel.

Nowadays it is not possible to show a good financial or operating report unless your personnel relations are in order. Over the years, highly skilled and knowledge-based jobs are increasing while low skilled jobs are decreasing. This calls for future skill mapping through proper HRM initiatives. Indian organizations are also witnessing a change in systems, management cultures and philosophy due to the global alignment of Indian organizations. There is a need for multi skill development. Role of HRM is becoming all the more important. Some of the recent trends that are being observed are as follows:

- The recent quality management standards ISO 9001 and ISO 9004 of 2000 focus more on people centric organizations. Organizations now need to prepare themselves in order to address people centered issues with commitment from the top management, with renewed thrust on HR issues, more particularly on training.
- To leapfrog ahead of competition in this world of uncertainty, organizations have introduced six- sigma practices. Six- sigma uses rigorous analytical tools with leadership from the top and develops a method for sustainable improvement. These practices improve organizational values and helps in creating defect free product or services at minimum cost.
- Human resource outsourcing is a new accession that makes a traditional HR department redundant in an organization. Exult, the international pioneer in HR BPO already roped in Bank of America, international players BP Amoco & over the years plan to spread their business to most of the Fortune 500 companies.
- With the increase of global job mobility, recruiting competent people is also increasingly becoming difficult, especially in India. Therefore by creating an enabling culture, organizations are also required to work out a retention strategy for the existing skilled manpower.

3.9 New Trends in International HRM

International HRM places greater emphasis on a number of responsibilities and functions such as relocation, orientation and translation services to help employees adapt to a new and different environment outside their own country.

- Selection of employees requires careful evaluation of the personal characteristics of the candidate and his/her spouse.
- Training and development extend beyond information and orientation training to include sensitivity training and field experiences that will enable the manager to understand cultural differences better. Managers need to be protected from career development risks, re-entry problems and culture shock.
- To balance the pros and cons of home country and host country evaluations, performance evaluations should combine the two sources of appraisal information.
- Compensation systems should support the overall strategic intent of the organization but should be customized for local conditions.
- In many European countries - Germany for one, law establishes representation. Organizations typically negotiate the agreement with the unions at a national level. In Europe it is more likely for salaried employees and managers to be unionized.

HR Managers should do the following things to ensure success

- Use workforce skills and abilities in order to exploit environmental opportunities and neutralize threats.
- Employ innovative reward plans that recognize employee contributions and grant enhancements.
- Indulge in continuous quality improvement through TQM and HR contributions like training, development, counseling, etc.
- Utilize people with distinctive capabilities to create unsurpassed competence in an area, e.g., Xerox in photocopiers, 3M in adhesives, Telco in trucks etc.
- Decentralize operations and rely on self-managed teams to deliver goods in difficult times e.g., Motorola is famous for short product development cycles. It has quickly commercialized ideas from its research labs.

HR Managers today are focusing attention on the following

Policies-HR policies based on trust, openness, equity, and consensus.

Motivation-Create conditions in which people are willing to work with zeal, initiative, and enthusiasm; make people feel like winners.

Relations- Fair treatment of people and prompt redress of grievances would pave the way for healthy work-place relations.

Change agent- Prepare workers to accept technological changes by clarifying doubts.

3.10 Functions of HRM Practices

The main functions of this department are selection of right person at right position, training & development, wage & salary administration, employee Welch slices, environment, health and safety & disciplining the employees. HRM deals with the following affairs to achieve the objectives of the organization as well as the goal of this department.

- Recruitment, selection, and placement of the employees.
- Promotion, transfer, demotions & disciplinary action of the employees.
- Leave of the employees.
- Lunch for the officer and staff.
- Maintenance of personnel records.
- Procurement, washing & repairing the uniforms.
- Arranging medical facilities for the employees.
- Induction of newly appointed employees.
- Government liaison.
- Job design and job analysis.
- Employee hiring and selection.
- Employee training & development.
- Compensation and benefits.
- Employee performance management.
- Managerial relations.
- Labor relations.
- Employee engagement and communication.
- Performance management.
- Learning & development.
- Succession planning.
- Compensation and benefits.
- Human resources information systems.
- HR data and analytics

Chapter: Four

Analysis of the Study

4.1 Recruitment & Selection Process in JL Sweaters Ltd

Recruitment is the process through which the organization seeks applicants for potential employment. Selection refers to the process, by which it attempts to identify applicants with the necessary knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics that will help the company achieve its goals, companies engaging in different strategies need different types and numbers of employees. The strategy a company is pursuing will have a direct impact on the types of employees that it seeks to recruit and selection.

Source of Recruitment

There are two kinds of source JL Sweaters Ltd uses for recruitment. They are-

Internal Source

External Source

I try to discuss all relative sources which are used for recruitment in JL Sweaters Ltd of Companies.

4.1.1 Internal Source

JL Sweaters Ltd thinks that current employees are a major source of recruits for all but entry-level positions. Whether for promotions or for 'Lateral' job transfers, internal candidates already know the informal organization and have detailed information about its formal policies and procedures. Promotions and transfer are typically decided by operating managers with little involvement by HR department.

Job-Posting Programs

Job-posting programs serve as an information service in assisting organizational employees in career-development endeavors and in generating a pool of internal candidates. Job-posting programs were initiated in the early stages of affirmative action when organizations began publicizing available jobs internally. HR departments become involved when internal job openings are publicized to employees through job positioning programs, which informs employees about opening and required qualifications and invite qualify employees to apply. The notices usually are posted on company bulletin boards. Qualification and other facts typically are drawn from the job analysis information. The purpose of job posting is to encourage employees to seek promotion and transfers the help the HR department fill internal opening and meet employee's personal objectives. Not all jobs' openings are posted. Besides entry level positions, senior management and top stuff positions may be filled by merit or with external recruiting. Job posting is most common for lower-level clerical, technical and supervisory positions.

4.1.2 External Source

When job opening cannot be filled internally, the HR department of JL Sweaters Ltd must look outside the organization for applicants. I try to discuss all the external source of recruitment as below:

Walk-ins and Write-ins

Walk-ins are some seekers who arrived at the HR department of JL Sweaters Ltd in search of a job; Write-ins are those who send a written enquire both groups normally are asked to complete and application blank to determine their interest and abilities. Usable application is kept in an active file until a suitable opening occurs or until an application is too old to be considered valid, usually six months.

Employee Referrals

- Employees may refer job seekers to the HR department. Employee referrals have several advantages. Employees with hard –to –find job skill may no others who do the same work.
- Employee's referrals are excellent and legal recruitment technique, but they tend to maintain the status of the work force in term of raise, religions, sex, and other characteristics, possibly leading to charges of discrimination.

Advertising

Want ads describe the job and the benefits, identify the employer, and tell those who are interested how to apply. They are most familiar form of employment advertising for highly specialist requites ads may be placed in daily newspaper in areas with high concentration of the desired skills.

Example: General Manager- Production.

Age: 28-35 years; Graduate with specialization in garment MFG technology from NIFT or equivalent. Minimum 10 years' experience in similar position of a unit with a minimum of 1000 machines. Must have detailed hands-on knowledge of industrial engineering. They offer competitive salary which is commensurate with experience and qualification. If you aspire to an exciting and rewarding career, send your detailed resume, quoting your present and expected salaries to jobs.

Internet

Now today nobody thinks anything without internet. So JL Sweaters Ltd give their advertise at internet.

4.2 Training & Employee Development in JL Sweaters Ltd

Training is a process of learning a sequence of programmed behavior. It is application of knowledge. It gives people an awareness of the rules procedures to guide their behavior. It attempts to improve their performance on the current job or prepare them for an intended job. Development is a related process. It covers not only those activities which improve job performance but also those which bring growth of the personality; help individuals to the progress towards maturity and actualization of their potential capacities so that they become not only good employees but better men and women. - Supervisors.

- Subordinates.
- Self-appraisal.

4.5.2 Approaches to measuring performance in JL Sweaters Ltd

There is various kind of method for measuring performance appraisal. But they get information that JL Sweaters Ltd uses experience-based performance method.

Experience Based

JL Sweaters Ltd measure the performance of employee by experience. For example, Mr. X has been working in JL Sweaters Ltd for three years and Mr. Y has been working in JL Sweaters Ltd for two years. So JL Sweaters Ltd favors Mr. X for his more experience.

4.6 Job Design in JL Sweaters Ltd

Job design is the process of structuring work and designating the specific work activates of an individual or group of individuals to achieve certain organizational objectives. The job design can generally be divided into three phases:

- The specification of individual task.
- The specification of the method of performing each task
- The combination of individual tasks into specific job to be assign to individual.

4.6.1 Organizational Considerations for Job design

- Effectiveness: In the context of job design, to remain effective, organizations may have to redefine jobs, monitoring, and using technology. So, that the firm can even compete against giant rivals.

- Efficiency: Maximum outputs through minimum inputs of time, effort, and other resources. In the context of job design, efficiency in time, effort, labor costs, and training should be done accordingly.

4.6.2 Technological Considerations

- Task Interdependence:The dependence of one task from another is task dependence. In this context, the task interdependence can be high or low depending on the product or service.

- Technical Constraints:Scarcity of machines is constraints, which in turn leads to the increase and decrease of production.

4.6.3 Employee Considerations

- Skill Variety: Variety refers to the use of different skills and talents to complete an array of work tasks and activities.

- Autonomy: Autonomy refers to the freedom and independence to plan and schedule the work and determine the procedures used to carry it out.

- Task Identity: Task identity means doing something from beginning to end rather than just part of it.

- Task Significance: It is the degree to which a job has substantial impact on an organization.

- Feedback: Feedback is the degree to which employees can tell how well they are doing based on information from the job.

4.6.4 Environmental Considerations

Factors may include, but are not limited to, environmental compliance, pollution prevention, conservation, protection of historical and cultural sites, and protection of flora and fauna. General environmental considerations are key for personal norms at work. Personal norms affect different types of pro-environmental behavior at work. Context factors making people focus on environmental considerations are important. A promising cost-efficient path to encourage pro-environmental behavior at work. Environmental ethics helps define man's moral and ethical obligations toward the environment. Water and air pollution, the depletion of natural resources, loss of biodiversity, destruction of ecosystems, and global climate change are all part of the environmental ethics debate.

Social Expectations

In designing jobs, the surrounding social expectations must be considered to avoid possible worker dissatisfaction.

Workforce Availability

Job requirements should be balanced against the availability of the people who are required to do the work.

Work Practices

Work practices are set methods of performing work. These methods may arise from tradition or the collective wishes of employees.

4.7 Incentives in JL Sweaters Ltd

Compensation fluctuates according to:

1) A pre-established formula.
2) Individual or group goals because group goals are different from individual goals.
3) Company earnings.

An incentive adds to base pay. It controls costs because the employee is being paid for his/her extra effort and for the benefits brought to the organization. It motivates employees.

Incentive Pay Categories

- Individual
- Group
- Company-wide.

Individual Incentive Plans

- Quantity of work output (How many units produced).

Chapter: Five

Findings

5.1 Findings

There is dissatisfaction regarding the opportunity of advancement and promotion policy of the company. 8 percent of them are satisfied with this policy and practice where 25 percent of them are not satisfied with it.

Survey indicates that respondents are not pleased with the exiting lunch facility provided by the company. 33 percent of the entire respondents are highly dissatisfied, 8 percent of them are dissatisfied and 8 percent of them are not satisfied with the facility where only 25 percent are satisfied with the facility.

The employees are getting benefits according to their job responsibilities and duties. 33 percent of them are not satisfied and 25 percent of them are dissatisfied with the package in comparison to their job responsibilities. However, 25 percent of them are satisfied.

In term of the annual appraisal of the company the employees are not actually satisfied. Here, 17 percent of them are satisfied but 33 percent of them are not satisfied with it.

Findings indicate that there is dissatisfaction among the manager, executive and non-executive level in term of opportunity for advancement and promotion. So, this practice needs to redesign and check and should be improved through adopting effective policy to satisfy employees.

To take the necessary steps and action, to increase employees' satisfaction level and to recover the above problems, further research is needed for the company which will include the whole employees of JL Sweaters Ltd. of Companies to identify the effective and efficient policy, strategy, and action.

It charges a bit high price than that of its competitors "JL Sweaters Ltd.Consumer Products Limited"Though they have good distribution coverage system, products are always available in posh urban areas but in some urban places they fail to provide the product in time, as a result they are losing a potential market share.

- First of all, HRD is not organized properly.
- Professional employees are not hired in proper way.
- JL Sweaters Ltd. has introduced the Omerazole Injection late in the market.
- Omeprazole Injection has introduced already by Incepta & Popular before JL Sweaters Ltd.
- JL Sweaters Ltd has lost the opportunity to be the first introducer & can't enjoy the benefits of it.
- Low in investments innovative R & D continue to be a major weakness of JL Sweaters Ltd of Companies.

Chapter: Six

Recommendation, Conclusion and Reference

6.1 Recommendations

From the analysis with the organization structure, I have seen that its span of supervision is too large. A number of departments report directly to the General Manager. If the number were less the efficiency and productivity of the organization might be increased. Quality control department should remain prompt always. So, that it can maintain a certain level of standard as per the market demand to capture the foreign market share it should strive more.

Succession planning can be introduced in the company before the retirement of any employee. This process will stop contract employment policy because through contract employment the employee is not allow getting all the facility and benefits from JL Sweaters Ltd as other employees which lead to job dissatisfaction.

The interior design of the office should be changed to be able to compete with other national and multinational company in this country and it will motivate the employees and retain high skilled employees. Paperwork needs to be reduced and increase the computer skilled of the existing employees to do the work more smoothly and faster which took more time before using the modern technical. Make sure the proper utilization of working time by increase the communication in and outside the company.

The company should revise the recruitment and selection policy for the executive level and also further research is needed to find out the reason of their dissatisfaction which will be easy in solving problems because the manager, non-executive and field forces are satisfied.

- First of all, HRD should be organized properly.
- Professional employees should be hired.
- Operation management should be more careful.
- Take some necessary steps for retaining the expert & experienced employees.
- Business development department should be built up.
- Marketing department can be introduced for promotional activities.
- Internet facilities should be introduced immediately.
- HRM department should be organized with more carefully.
- According to international standards JL Sweaters Ltd Ltd. Should maintains their production quality.
- JL Sweaters Ltd is leading company, but it is maximum staffs are not well trained. So, company should arrange training programmed.

6.2 Conclusion

The flourish of any industry requires combined efforts and co-operation from several parties. Social, political, and macroeconomic environment play pivotal role in this regard. Though JL Sweaters Ltd is a reputed Ventured Company in the respective sector, its growth and expansion are praiseworthy. It's contributing the country and serving the nation in different ways. If it can uphold it's much toward advancement, it will be able to set a role model in our country.

JL Sweaters Ltd of Bangladesh Ltd. is one of the leading business organizations. There is no doubt effective use of pricing consideration and approaches play a vital role in their success.In order to produce the best quality of any product the employees of the company must be skillful, knowledgeable, and fill of being as they are the members of one and same family for their better improvement. However, JL Sweaters Ltd is not concerned only on the quality of the product and the reputation of the company, but they are also concerned about the satisfaction level of their employees for better improvement, higher productivity as well as to produce quality product by providing different types of benefits and facilities.However, from the research paper it is found that most of the employees are satisfied with the facilities giving to them. Only few factors are not able to satisfy the employees. This is also found through conducting this research that there is both satisfaction and dissatisfaction in term of LEA facility, recruitment and selection policy, annual appraisal and also the non-executive employees are not dissatisfied with the facility that the company provides to.Through the thesis paper it is clear that JL Sweaters Ltd Companies in Bangladesh Ltd. is an established, significant and highly respected in term of the product quality and very much concerned about the satisfaction or motivation of the employees.
